Household Worker Payroll Tax Update Seminar

January 28, 2012

10 AM – 2:30 PM

$75

100 Lafayette Circle, Lafayette CA-Location Subject to Change

Why Should You Attend?

- Because the Household worker will file for unemployment (despite what they agreed to when hired).
- Because by not declaring them and paying the tax, homeowners insurance will not cover them when they are injured and your clients will lose your house (and sue you).
- Because the government classifies non payment of payroll tax as tax evasion.
- Because your clients will pay penalties you can't afford.
- Because you need to know if the babysitter should be on payroll or not.
- Because household employment has weird rules, due dates and forms.

What We Will Cover:

- Who is a household employee?
- Practical Examples with completed forms for a sample family.
- We'll sort out the blizzard of California and IRS forms you may have to file including the new EDD forms for 2012.
- When do you have to withhold from Payments to Workers?
- Payments in the form of Meals and Lodging.
- When and how do you send payments to the government?
- "I 'forgot' to withhold:" how to gross up wages.
